

U. S. Breaks Trade Pact With Czechs

Oasis Case Basis For U. S. Move

Washington (AP)—The U. S. announced yesterday that it has decided to cut off trade-agreement tariff concessions to Czechoslovakia.

One of the reasons given in a statement issued by the State department was that American citizens in Czechoslovakia "have been imprisoned without justification." This was an evident reference to the recent conviction of William N. Oatis on a charge of espionage, with a 10-year sentence.

The U. S. State department disclosed, has notified all the other countries which share membership in a basic trade agreement known as the "general agreement on tariffs and trade" of its decision with respect to Czechoslovakia.

It has requested that the break in the contractual tariff relationship between this country and Czechoslovakia be listed for discussion at a tariff and trade conference meeting in Geneva September 17.

The effect of the cutting off of tariff concessions will be to deny competitive advantages to Czechoslovak goods which they now have in the American market.

The reference of the question to the Geneva conference is for the purpose of getting the U. S.-Czech arrangement formally terminated.

A statement circulated among the other governments said that the U. S. assumed that when it entered the trade arrangement in 1947 relations with Czechoslovakia would be such "that it would be in their mutual interests to promote the movement of goods, money, and people between them."

"It is now apparent that this assumption is no longer valid as between the U. S. and Czechoslovakia," the statement said.

"On the contrary, relations between the U. S. and Czechoslovakia have been progressively impaired by manifestations of Czech ill will toward the United States.

"Property of American nationals in Czechoslovakia has been confiscated without compensation of any serious attempt on the part of Czechoslovakia to settle this matter. American firms have been persecuted and harassed to such a degree that it is virtually impossible for them to do business with Czechoslovakia.

"Procurement of ordinary trade information essential to the conduct of commercial enterprises has been declared a crime. The U. S. has been forced, on extremely short notice, to reduce drastically of its personnel of its embassy in Prague.

"American citizens have been imprisoned without justification. American charitable and welfare organizations have been forced to discontinue their work."

Furthermore the U. S. asserted that economic relations have become much worse by "the progressive integration of Czechoslovakia's economy into the Soviet bloc."

Atomic Storage Space Needed

Washington (AP)—The Atomic Energy commission (AEC) may be making bombs so fast that new storage space is needed.

This developed yesterday out of a brief reference in a semi-annual report to the President and Congress.

"Development of new facilities for weapons purposes proceeded, and announcements were made of some of the sites," said the report. AEC Chairman Gordon Dean was asked by reporters at a news conference to what sites the report referred, in addition to announced new production projects such as the Savannah river project in Georgia.

Indicating that this reference in the report wasn't confined to production and test sites, Dean added that "for instance, we don't announce where we store our bombs."

Dowser Find Water Supply

Orchard Park, N. Y. (AP)—A service station owner called in a "dowser" to locate an extra water supply for him.

The expert used the traditional method. Holding two small ends of a forked branch, the dowser avowed there was water at a spot where the other end dipped to earth.

Diggers hit a gusher. They had punched a hole in a six-inch water main.

"Sudden Death" Taxation

(An Editorial)

Everybody's heard of that suicidal game known as Russian roulette . . . it's a little gamble with life where the player spins the cylinder of a revolver containing one shell and pulls the trigger.

He may or may not live, depending where the spun cylinder stops.

Two administration stalwarts have come up with a proposal that smacks of Russian roulette with all the chambers filled with "tax" shells . . . your TAX life isn't worth a plugged cent, if you play it.

They would have Pennsylvania voters make a decision on this referendum . . . "Do you prefer an income tax or a sales tax?"

What a joke! Voters are mowed down before they start. Not a word about their preference for some economies to eliminate necessity of taxation.

This measure should be killed before it moves out of committee and YOU . . . the Voters . . . should demand it right now. Incidentally, the proposed bill is in the House which has already approved an income tax bill. Act NOW.

Truce Teams End Session; Had Appeared Ready To Try Compromise On Buffer Zone

U. N. Advance Headquarters, Korea, Wednesday, (AP)—Allied and Communist truce teams ended their 16th meeting at Kaesong today. There was no immediate indication of any progress in the crucial talks on a buffer zone.

The session ended at 1:25 p. m. (11:25 p. m., EDT, Tuesday), after two hours and 25 minutes. United Nations command headquarters announced the two delegations would meet again tomorrow at 11 a. m.

As usual, there was no report on the outcome of the session pending release of the official Allied communiqué.

Before today's meeting, the rival delegations appeared ready to attempt a compromise on where to draw a buffer zone across the mountainous peninsula.

Tuesday's 15th session lasted only one hour and 34 minutes and resulted in "no progress," the U. N. command communiqué reported last night.

For the fifth straight day the Communist delegation insisted that a 12-1/2 mile wide buffer zone be centered along the 38th parallel. The U. N. delegation again sought to establish a 20-mile demilitarized zone along the present battle line, from 20 to 35 miles farther north.

There was a possibility that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme Allied commander, might issue a statement on the Kaesong talks.

Ridgway's headquarters emphatically denied rumors that he had been instructed to set a time limit on the Kaesong talks.

After Tuesday's meeting Brig. Gen. William N. Clegg, chief U. N. spokesman, told correspondents "both sides now fully understand the views of each other, although they may not appreciate it and certainly do not agree with it."

The commander of Red China's forces in Korea, Gen. Peng Teh-huai, warned that U. N. troops would be at a disadvantage if armistice talks were broken off.

His statement, broadcast by the Peiping radio, added: "World public opinion will see more clearly who is insisting on war and does not want peace. This constitutes a fatal danger to the aggressive war plans of the United States."

Peng's statement followed a speech by Gen. Chu Teh, commander in chief of Chinese Red armies, who expressed "constant hope" for peace in Korea but charged "imperialist countries do not want peace."

Marshall's estimate of 400,000 caused a furor last week. After yesterday's meeting, Senator Brewster (R-Me) said, "General Marshall made a very serious error" in his testimony. But Connally passed it off as "just one of those things." He added that Marshall's testimony was hurriedly prepared and some of the estimates "were a little loose."

Indiana Refused Welfare Funds

Washington (AP)—The Federal Government yesterday shut off Indiana from Federal welfare funds—money for the aged, blind, and dependent children.

Federal Security Administrator Oscar R. Ewing, a native of Indiana, announced the drastic decision and said it is effective at once.

He acted, he said, because he had no choice under a new Indiana law opening the names on welfare rolls to public inspection. A Federal law requires that recipients of Federal welfare funds be withheld from the public. Several other states have talked of a law similar to Indiana's.

Truck Bill Clears House Committee

Harrisburg (AP)—A hard-fought bill, increasing weight loads of commonly used trucks, was approved yesterday by the House Motor Vehicles committee—a big hurdle in the legislative process.

The committee action placed the controversial measure before the House for a vote next week, possibly Tuesday.

Chairman Samuel B. Dennison (R-Jefferson) immediately predicted passage of the bill but said he expected "very heated debate" before the roll call.

The bill would increase from 45,000 to 60,000 pounds the weight load of tandem axle, semi-trailer trucks and single axle semi-trailer trucks from 45,000 to 48,000 pounds.

The measure would also stiffen penalties for overloads. Instead of the present $50 flat fine, a graduated scale would be set up of $100 with $2 added for each 100 pounds overload.

Chairman Dennison said the vote approving the bill was "by no means unanimous" but declined to give the vote. Other sources said it was 19-7.

On the tax front, battling Republican senators moved for a showdown on the issue that has kept the assembly in session until mid-summer.

The GOP majority decided to hold a final caucus to decide whether it was possible to pass Gov. John S. Fine's bottled-up income levy or some compromise tax program.

Sen. James S. Berger (R-Potter), chairman of the caucus, said if it is found impossible to reach agreement on a tax program "there is a strong disposition to adjourn" the 1951 session.

The caucus—policy making meeting of the group—first was called for last night but later was put off, possibly until today, because of a previous engagement by Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, president pro tempore of the Senate and an income tax supporter.

Legislation stiffening penalties for dope peddlers passed the assembly finally and went to the Governor. The new penalties would be $2,000 fine and five years in prison for first offenders; $4,000 and ten years for second offenders and $5,000 and 10 to 30 years for third offenders.

The truck bill has been loudly debated at recent sessions of the Legislature. It passed the House in the 1949 session but died in Senate committee.

At this session, the Pennsylvania Motor Truck association reversed its strategy and introduced it in the Senate. It passed there on July 10 by a 31-18 vote.

Other provisions of the pending bill include: Give enforcement officers the right to require a violator to unload overweight cargoes on the spot; set up a formula to require minimum braking standards and engine performances on trucks.

Third Of Students Flunk Draft Test

Washington (AP)—Selective Service reported yesterday that 38 per cent of the college students who took the first draft aptitude test flunked it.

But 40 per cent of the poorer students who would not have rated consideration for draft deferment on the basis of their showing in the classroom got by the test with scores of 70 or better.

In the upper portions of classes, the percentage of passing grades was 75.

Local draft boards have been asked to give a score of 70 or better the same consideration, as is given to a student ranking in the top half of the freshman class, top two-thirds of the sophomore class, or top three-quarters of the junior class.

HST Signs Controls Bill With Blast At Provisions

FIRE WHICH WENT TO FIREMEN—Like the mountain going to Mohammed, the car of lumber shown above was pulled down the DL&W tracks to a point near the Analomink fire house late yesterday, after the load of pine was discovered afire at Henryville. Here firemen are checking the burned sections at Gravel Place near Stokes Mills. (Daily Record photo)

Engine Speeds Blazing Flatcar To Analomink Where Volunteer Firemen Wait With Booster

Analomink — Isn't often that a fire comes to the firemen, but that's what happened here at 8:30 p. m. yesterday when a flatcar loaded with pine lumber caught fire as it rolled along in an eastbound Lackawanna Railroad freight.

The train crew telephoned Stroud township firemen at Analomink, then disconnected the blazing car and four or five more west of it, and the engine pulled the short string and the burning lumber on down the main line to Analomink.

The flatcar was stopped directly behind the Analomink Methodist church at a point only 100 yards from the northern Stroud firehouse. Firemen with 650 gallons of water in the Analomink booster reached the scene just as the burning car was stopped.

Analomink Chief Robert Bates said the contents of the tank were sprayed on the load of lumber, wetting it down in short order, although firemen found it necessary to run their hose across the westbound tracks to reach the damaged car on the outside eastbound track.

Railroad dispatchers held up two trains, one on a crack passenger run, while the firemen worked. Once it was wet down thoroughly, the car was towed on a siding at Gravel Place where other firemen inspected it for possibility of fresh outbreak.

Once checked, the car was pushed back up the line and attached to the waiting train at Henryville, then pulled back down through Analomink and East Stroudsburg.

Cause of the fire was listed as unknown last night, but Chief Bates said his men were satisfied that it was not caused by a "hot box."

Railroad spokesmen said one end of the load of lumber was badly scorched in the mishap. They estimated damages at $100, although firemen declined to estimate the damage since the pine was not unloaded for close inspection.

The car was one of approximately 100 being hauled to Hoboken from Scranton on a regular freight run.

When the fire alarm was sounded, the Arlington Heights siren summoned Stroud township firemen in that sector. They responded, taking a truck to the scene, but moved out again after the Analomink members of the department jokingly advised them that the situation was under control, and—furthermore—that the fire had been delivered to their firehouse anyway.

The Bridge St. members proceeded to Gravel Place and conducted the inspection when the flatcar was moved there.

OPS Issues Series Of Price Orders

Washington (AP)—The Office of Price Stabilization late yesterday ordered into effect new price regulations for thousands of manufactured consumer goods, machinery, textiles and clothing. They will mean price rollbacks for some and roll-forwards for others.

An OPS official acknowledged that by getting the orders out under the old law the agency was able to order some rollbacks that would not be allowed today.

All cutbacks and advances in prices had been suspended while Congress debated the new controls measure.

Among products affected by the pricing formula changes are radios, television sets, refrigerators and other appliances, shoes, clothing, many building materials, chemicals and rubber products, cotton textiles, wool yarns and fabrics, and machinery.

Polio Outbreak Hits Texas City

New York (AP)—The first major polio epidemic of the year was reported at Corpus Christi, Tex., yesterday by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The foundation did not say how many cases were reported in the area. But it sent $25,000 in March of Dimes funds to Corpus Christi and surrounding Nueces county.

Down-Payment, Payoff-Time Rules Relaxed By Board

Washington (AP)—The Federal Reserve board promptly revised its consumer credit regulations last night to bring them into line with the new defense production act.

Simultaneously with the signing of the controls act by President Truman, the board issued an amendment to its regulation W, which regulates installment credit.

The amendment, effective immediately, lengthens the maximum credit period for automobiles, household appliances, radio and television sets, and furniture from 15 to 18 months, and for home and repair improvements from 30 to 36 months.

In accordance with the new legislation, down payment requirements for household appliances and television sets are reduced from 25 to 15 per cent. The down payment required by the regulation may be made in cash, trade-in or a combination of both.

The 10 per cent down payment required for home repair and improvements now need not be obtained prior to completion of the work.

The down payment on automobiles remains unchanged at one-third, but the time for paying is extended from 15 to 18 months. Here is a summary of the revised terms of regulation W:

Automobiles, one third down and 18 months to pay.

Household appliances, furniture, and TV sets, 15 per cent down and 18 months.

Residential repair and improvement, 10 per cent down and 36 months.

Unclassified installment loans, no down payment and 18 months.

In addition, the board exempted from regulation W any installment credit for the installation of sewerage and related facilities, including plumbing fixtures, where the householder is required to make such installation by local, state or Federal health and sanitary regulations.

Firms Replace Drugs

Kansas City (AP)—Virtually all leading manufacturers of drugs and medicine have offered to replace without charge all their products destroyed or damaged by floods in retail stores in Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma.

Higher Wages, Prices Seen By President

Washington (AP)—President Truman reluctantly signed the new controls law last night with a blast at provisions which he said would "damage" Americans and force prices to "heights which we cannot yet foresee."

The new law, which permits some price rollbacks and some increases, and eases consumer credit curbs, continues basic economic controls from last midnight through next June 30.

He promised a fight for powers which were denied or curtailed, saying the nation's families cannot have protection against inflation until "Congress repairs the damage done by this new act."

And he said the section of the law covering inflation curbs is so bad he would have used a veto had it not been tied to essential powers to encourage production, channel materials to essential uses, aid business and control rents. He called those latter provisions "relatively adequate."

"We will not be able to hold down rising prices under this act, and I am going to ask the Congress to amend it to give us adequate controls," Mr. Truman said in a formal statement.

He said the new law will force the government "to permit reasonable adjustments in wages" to fit cost of living increases. Working people, he went on, cannot foot the bill for "the higher profits this act provides."

Mr. Truman's statement was a vigorous reply to those Republicans and other critics who have said this is a good bill, and one that could control inflation—if properly administered.

He aimed some of his hardest blows at the section of the law which prohibits the setting of quotas on livestock slaughter, saying it amounts to "encourage the return black markets."

He was no less severe in his indictment of the price ceiling provisions. Two big ones require that ceilings reflect new costs incurred before last Thursday and that retailers and wholesalers get their customary percentage margin over costs.

Mr. Truman declared the price provisions would cause a rise in "ceiling prices for the manufacturer, the wholesaler and the retailer." He hit specifically at the prohibition against planned additional rollbacks on live beef.

He said it "makes effective rollbacks on other vital cost-of-living commodities practically impossible."

Along with the President's statement there were these related actions on economic mobilization:

One—Mr. Truman himself by executive order abolished the Office of Housing Expediter, and gave its work to the Economic Stabilization agency (ESA) and the Housing and Home Finance agency. ESA gets the rent controls administration job. The Housing and Home Finance agency inherits the incidental tasks such as enforcement of price standards in veterans housing.

Two—The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) hurried out a score of price orders affecting thousands of consumer items including clothing, and machinery.

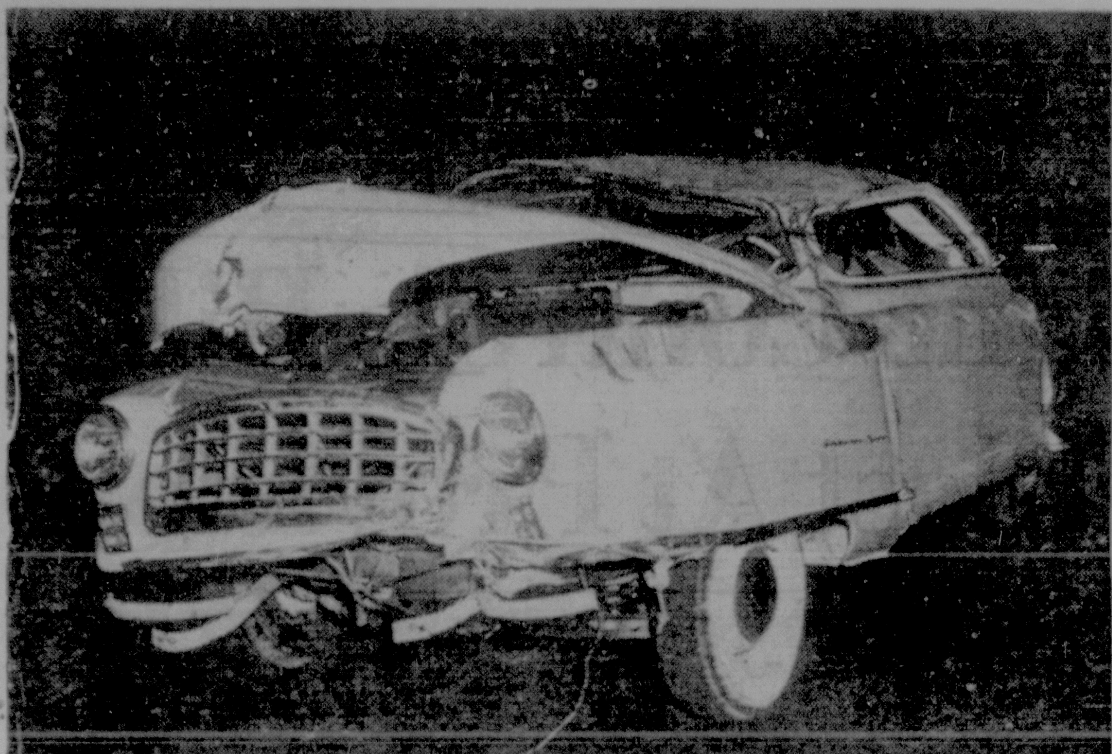

Three—The Federal Reserve board, simultaneously with announcement of the President's action, issued new consumer credit rules easing down payment requirements and the payoff time on such things as automobiles and household appliances.

Four—The Wage Stabilization board extended indefinitely its rule ceases which are hitched to the government's price index.

Five—OPS got in line with the new law by formally abolishing the livestock slaughter quotas it has had in effect under the old law. At the same time it officially cancelled the additional 4 1/2 per cent live cattle rollback planned for today. Another cut of the same amount was planned for this fall. Congress forbade them both but did allow the present 10 per cent rollback. OPS did retain its requirement that slaughterers register in order to do business, a measure aimed to stop fly-by-night operators.

The price agency added a new wrinkle to wage price control by banning imports of beef from Canada or other foreign sources at prices higher than the domestic level. It said such imports were putting pressure on U. S. prices.

Mr. Truman introduced his mention of wages with his forecast of prices at "heights which we cannot yet foresee."

Lions Discuss Wrestling Meet, Biddy Basketball

Members of the Stroudsburg Lions club, to the number of 55, met for dinner last night at the Stroud Manor, Ansonmink, and started a new system of group and chorus singing. President T. Manning Curtis was in the chair.

Harold Newman spoke briefly on "buddy basketball" and advocated that the club take the lead in that junior sport for the coming season. He was appointed as chairman of a new committee to have charge of athletics on the part of the club.

St. Kats for the special events committee reported that the proposed wrestling match to be held out-of-doors under club auspices, will be held at Gordon Giffels Field on the night of August 22 and, in the event of rain, will take place in the gymnasium.

Primo Carnera, once a top-flight heavyweight boxer and now a famous wrestler, will head the bill, the club having received an absolute guarantee to that effect. There will be two female wrestlers on the supporting card. An Australian tag team will complete the bill.

Admission will cost $1.50 at this show and reserved seats will sell for $2. They will be ready at the end of the present week.

A meeting of the wrestling committee will be held at 7:30 p. m. Monday.

The entertainment last night consisted of the playing of bassoon solos by Edward Knob Jr. The musician lectured on the unusual instrument. He said that if it were not for a telescopic effect, it would be seven feet long. He said that the best bassoons are made in Germany and a cheap one costs about $700. The prices range as high as $1500. He explained that this one he exhibited was made of

The bassoon, he explained, is often called the clown of the orchestra because of some of its peculiar tones, but it is very popular in symphony orchestras. For some reason, there are no round holes on the instrument, all being elliptical. It is a great favorite in the Mediterranean countries of Europe, he stated.

President Curtis announced that the next meeting of the club will be on Tuesday night, August 14, at Bushkill.

On Saturday of this week at the Stroudsburg playground, cash awards and medals for playground citizenship will be presented on behalf of the club, in connection with aquatic sports.

The president announced several quartet numbers. Much of the singing was under the leadership of Edward Knob Jr., with John Gearhart at the piano.

Low Pay Perils Nursing Profession

New York, (AP)—Bernard M. Bruch was quoted yesterday as warning that low pay and inflation may force many nurses from their profession.

The August issue of the American Journal of Nursing quotes the elderly financier as saying: "It is not unreasonable to expect that many nurses will leave the profession to seek other employment, unless the economic situation improves."

He added that 16 graduating pupils at Pocono High and 17 at Tobyhanna Township High took the tests last spring. No twelfth graders were graduated at Coolbaugh high last June, he observed.

The three schools are already considering plans for continuing the series of tests again next year.

Advantages of nursing, accentuated by the evils of inflation, are curbed.

Results Of Personality Tests On File At Pocono, Tobyhanna Township Schools

California personality tests, given members of the graduating classes of Tobyhanna and Pocono Township High schools, have been graded and the results are now on file at the schools, according to an announcement by Bennett Strait, supervisor of special education for Monroe county schools.

The tests were made available at the schools through the efforts of the Mount Pocono Rotary club, which last spring launched a guidance assistance program for schools in Coolbaugh, Tobyhanna and Pocono townships.

They conferred with County Superintendent John C. Litts and Assistant Superintendent Walter H. Sebring, and the superintendents explained how their club program might embrace guidance plans already established in the respective schools.

A battery of tests for senior pupils was arranged at the expense of the club, and these were given before the end of the last school semester. Purpose of the series is to guide the graduates into the niche for which they will be best fitted, Mr. Strait pointed out yesterday.

Compensation, Jobless Pay Bills Advance

Harrisburg (AP)—A package of bills boosting workmen's compensation and jobless pay benefits in Pennsylvania moved in position in the House yesterday for a final vote.

The bills were advanced after administration forces fought off a series of attempts by labor organizations to amend the measures.

Rep. Charles C. Smith, Republican floor leader, said the bills probably would be voted upon by the House today. All are expected to pass.

They would boost workmen's compensation benefits from a minimum of $12.50 to $20 a week and the maximum from $25 to $30.

The minimum for unemployment compensation would go from $8 to $10 a week under the proposed changes and the maximum from $25 to $30. The unemployment compensation legislation originally proposed only a boost from $25 to $28, but was amended yesterday to increase this to $30.

Administration forces also revised the workmen's compensation measures to provide increased benefits to widows and dependent children.

Beat down were Democratic attempts to eliminate the new medical board under the workmen's compensation law and to inaugurate a new system of paying partial unemployment compensation so that employees who work only two or three days a week would be eligible for benefits.

It would benefit only a comparatively small group of high wage earners, opponents contended.

Priest To Wed Chicago Girl Who Followed Him To Italy

Milan, Italy, (AP)—A Roman Catholic priest declared solemnly last night that he would marry the young American girl who followed him to Italy determined to become his wife.

Until last night, Luciano Negrini, a 43-year-old former Italian missionary to China, had held that his priestly vows would not permit him to marry tall, blonde Claire Young, of Chicago.

Last Saturday, the 21-year-old daughter of Prof. James J. Young, of Loyola University (Chicago) was detained by police. Her permit to stay in Italy had expired and she was ordered deported aboard the American liner Independence, leaving Genoa August 6.

Negrini declared his willingness to marry Miss Young before American consular authorities here, police said. On this basis, they gave him permission to visit Miss Young in prison. Negrini said he wanted to ask her to sign a statement affirming her intention to marry him.

Whether Negrini's decision to disregard his vows will save Miss Young from deportation still is a question.

There are many "ifs" in the tangled romance that started in Chicago, where the couple first met more than a year ago. Negrini was on a tour raising funds for Catholic missions at that time.

Miss Young, defying family protests, followed him to Italy. Police here said she obtained a passport in Canada by falsifying her age.

A few weeks ago, Mrs. Eileen Young, the girl's mother, came to Milan hoping to take her daughter home. In a dramatic scene at police headquarters a few days later, Claire vowed she wanted only to marry the former missionary.

"WARSAW CONCERTO"

Red Cross Flood Appeal

The most damaging flood in the nation's history has washed its way through the mid-west, leaving death and devastation in its wake. At a time when the country can ill afford disruption of an industrial area; plants and community facilities have been leveled. Property damage has pushed beyond the $1,000,000,000 mark. Human suffering cannot be estimated.

The financial resources of private and governmental agencies will be thrown into the rebuilding of disrupted communities.

Help must be given to those people whose lives have been dislocated by the flood. The limited resources of the small farmer, the baker, the barber, the storekeeper and thousands of others who are part of a normal community will call for a long and costly rehabilitation task. It is a job which cannot wait. For these modest and helpless people each of us must feel deep concern.

The Congress in 1905 officially charged the American Red Cross with responsibility for the welfare of disaster stricken individuals and families. The Red Cross record of emergency help and rehabilitation for the victims of disaster is a long and a proud one.

With its financial resources already stretched to the limit, the Red Cross is, for the first time since 1933, launching a special disaster relief fund campaign. President Truman has urged the American people to respond to this appeal to the tune of at least $5,000,000. The Presidential appeal will be fortified by hundreds of thousands who in the great American tradition are ever prompt to give compassionate response to human need and suffering.

We, here in Monroe county, have been asked to give the pitifully small sum of $700 towards the overall Red Cross quota.

Let's get our contribution in to Red Cross headquarters in Stroudsburg NOW and speed the end to human suffering in the flood-stricken area.

Pride in Rehabilitation

Pennsylvania is justified in having a feeling of pride in the important advances made in preparing the physically handicapped to assume useful places in society and to become self-supporting.

In the year ending June 30, 3845 persons were prepared for employment. That is an increase of 19 per cent over the number aided in the previous year.

In many cases these persons and some of their relatives might have become public charges for the remainder of their lives had this training not been available.

Any money spent to restore an individual to the wage-earning classification is money well spent. It promotes self respect in the beneficiary; it reduces the amount of public funds necessary to care for him.

Physicians, hospitals, rehabilitation centers and labor unions which have worked with the Pennsylvania Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation have performed a genuine service. The state will benefit from continuance and expansion of their efforts.

Fuel Warning

State Commerce Secretary Sordani sounds an always timely bit of advice: Stock your homes with fuel now in the slack season.

Coal is available in quantity. It can be moved more readily now than when freezing weather comes. Its removal from mine storage will promote continuous flow of coal from the mines for the general good.

But Secretary Sordani's warning is meant also for users of oil and other fuel. It'll be well to keep storage facilities filled.

Harry Oliver, editor of "The Desert Rat" (a newspaper published four times a year), swears that an Indian stole into a white man's court and pleaded to have his name shortened legally. "What's your name now?" asked the judge. "Chief Train-whistle," said the Indian. "And what do you want to shorten it to?" pursued the judge. The Indian folded his arms majestically and granted, "Toots."

Erving Hoffman describes a certain Hollywood producer as "the asbestos curtain between entertainment and the audience." Incidentally, when somebody asked Gene Fowler, "Now that TV is here to stay, whatever's going to happen to all those $3500-a-week movie producers?" Fowler snapped back, "Whatever happened to blacksmiths?"

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood — "It's a mother role? Get Barbara Hale!" That seems to be the cry among producers.

So far this "wholesome type" ex-model from Rockford, Ill., has mothered six children on the screen: two in the unreleased "Small Wonder," two in "Jackpot," and one each in "The Window" and "A Likely Story."

Barbara sighed, thinking of movie trade-marks: "Either Williams has her bathing suit, and I have my apron." Her category, she decided, is "homespun sex."

But Barbara doesn't mind this threat of mother-typing. There are all sorts of mother-role possibilities, she pointed out — from show-girls and scatterbrains to socialites and middle-agers.

Besides, she likes kids — has two cute ones in real life and would like to have two more. And 'way back when she was a little girl, her mother told her, she innocently told her aunt:

"When I grow up, whether I get married or not, I'm going to have some children."

But she did get married — to Actor Bill Williams.

An interview with Barbara Hale, Movie Mother, couldn't have taken place in more fitting surroundings. The yard behind the Hale-Williams home in Van Nuys resounded with the cries of playmates and the squeal of swings and tricycles.

Four-year-old Jody, a blonde charmer with pigtails, told me frankly I should leave so Mommy could take her swimming in their pool.

She has seen her mother on the screen once. Her grandmother took her to the show. When the screen showed Barbara dining in a restaurant, Jody started down the aisle, explaining: "I want to go into that restaurant and eat something with my mommy."

These Days — By George E. Sokolsky

Sokolsky

States Rights Up to the present generation, Americans generally took great pride in State history and tradition, and were usually offended by federal encroachment upon States Rights.

In public addresses and private conversation, the reference was to "These United States" rather than to "The United States."

Like so much else that has had deep roots in American tradition, this long-held attitude has lost some of its meaning. Maybe it is due to the automobile and good roads or to the radio and television. I think rather that this tendency should be attributed to the propaganda efforts of the New Deal to make states administrative adjuncts of a national administration. This propaganda has been continuous and intense for 15 years, during which an increasingly large number of Americans have become interested in or dependent upon Federal Treasury checks.

In the so-called Tidelands cases—California, Louisiana, and Texas—the Supreme Court has been laying down doctrine, which, while dealing with oil, can be widely applied to the lessing of the sovereignty of the states.

Mr. Justice Douglas in the Louisiana case stated: "The marginal sea is a national, not a state concern. National interests, national responsibilities, national concerns are involved. The problems of commerce, national defense, relations with other powers, war and peace, focus there. National rights must therefore be paramount there."

The learned Dean Roscoe Pound, who taught law to some of our Supreme Court Justices, asks:

"... But as to such things as are specified, namely commerce with foreign states (e. g. obligations) and conduct of war, are not the rights or powers of the United States paramount also over the whole land? Such rights, incidents of external sovereignty, are not incompatible with ownership, dominion, as distinct from sovereignty. For example, the power of eminent domain for federal purposes extends to the whole land. Private land may be used for national defense throughout the whole land. It is not for that reason excluded from private ownership. Private land may be used for national defense throughout the country and is none the less private property because of this."

If Mr. Justice Douglas's theory is correct, why should there be any private ownership of property in the city of New York? The financial affairs of the nation, insurance, banking, publishing, etc., are concentrated there. A very large part of the international and domestic commerce of this country either originates in New York or is handled there. The United Nations is situated in that city.

Surely the Empire State Tower would, in a war against us, be employed in the national defense. Should it not now be confiscated, according to the reasoning of Mr. Justice Douglas?

The intellectual difficulty which the followers of Oliver Wendell Holmes face is that they are forced by their theory of the law to accept it as an instrument for the exercise of power by the Administration in authority without moral restraints. If that theory is applied in all directions, it must produce a state in which no individual can have any "inalienable" rights. Yet, the Declaration of Independence specifies that that was the reason for the founding of our country.

In the Tidelands cases, these decisions probably will not affect the actual production of a barrel of oil for private use or the national defense. Therefore, that is not the issue.

The issue is the right of the state—of any state—to its sovereignty and the right of the individual to his property, as the Constitution provides. It is a question as to whether we are living under the Constitution or under a rule of thumb federal jurisdiction which Mr. Justice Douglas calls paramount national rights.

"As Dean Pound so aptly put it in an article in the "Baylor Law Review":

"If sovereignty with responsibility for defense and international relations did necessarily and inseparably involve dominion, that is ownership of land, all private ownership of land would have to be given up."

If defense has to be by air, for instance, at what point up in the air do private and state rights end? Dean Pound argues this point with clear logic, ending with this conclusion:

"... Under the conditions of warfare today the argument for national defense would make the United States owner of the whole land as well as of the shore of the sea and the sea adjacent to our territory."

Actually, these three decisions of the Supreme Court could by judicial fiat alter the structure of American life.

Richard Rodgers' office has no desk. One of the richest men in the world... But Ben Sonnenberg's office has an acre of desk.

Some men think being behind a big desk is a big front... Earl Strohl, night editor at the Journal-American, marries again any day. His ex-wife is now Mrs. Louis Sobol, of the same paper.

The New Yorker's review of "Show Boat" muses that Ava Gardner sings "Why Was I Born?" The song is not in the picture... "Getting to Know You," from "King and I" (our pet ear-tickler) was crowded out of "South Pacific"...

But as was the unpublished Rodgers & Hammerstein song, "The Loveliest of Evenings"... Cy Walters plays it now and then... In the revue, "Two for the Show," a few years back, the score was brushed off by the critics, as nothing... But today's No. 1 hit parader, "How High The Moon," came from that debacle.

It now costs you $5 for a mouthful of the 100-year-old Courvoisier brandy at the Stork Club... The trade papers say the combination coaxial cable and microwave relay extend TV to the West Coast on or about Sept. 1. But, according to A. T. and T., the earliest possible time is November 1... An extension of the cable from Jacksonville to Miami is not due until next February or March... and then it can operate southbound, only, can't feed north... So it's not known whether they can transmit a program to a network from Miami next year — or next decade.

WW shows the least loss of the top 10 radio shows to TV — in the nine top TV cities... Network officials say this means a great many TV owners have their radios on Sunday nights, at nine.

Big Bibles are surefire at the movie box-offices. "Samson and Delilah" (which has been dubbed in the trade as "Scriptural Western") has been a mop-up. Zanuck's "David and Bathsheba" will coin a fortune. (Had no idea there was so much sex appeal in the Old Testament?) "Quo Vadis" will be up with the big ones. Even a so-so Italo, "Fabiola," will reap much more than it sowed.

After the 10-week run of "Caruso," the Music Hall nabobs thought they'd never again house such a "Man-Who-Came-to-Dinner" sticker. But "Show Boat" broke its record and may outlive it. The three new trends are religious, solid musicals — and Martin & Lewis.

A four-hand "natural" was dealt at blackjack (21) in the Wagon Wheel Saloon and Gambling Hall, at Stateline, Nev., on July 22. The three backing the house and the dealer all turned up aces-and-faces. Bonnie Benham handled the deck. It was a stand-off by house rules. A professor of mathematics, up on computations and permutations, told me odds against a repeat are about a million to one.

Gus Lesnevich, ex-light-heavy champ, starts his own disc-jock show on WOR, Aug. 11. He is the first ring-master with his own program. Gus will stress his interest in kid welfare, to which he has long been devoted.

At least two other informers, besides Bill Drury, the "brave bull," have been assassinated because they were in contact with the Senate Crime Committee. The most recent killing was in Texas. Both had been fingered by someone on the inside. Sen. O'Connor did not notify the FBI or other enforcement officials that the murdered men were preparing to cross up the dope mob.

The late Al Woods will be biographed by his widow, Rose, and Ralph Kettering, veteran Chicago theatreman... And Jessica Dragonette is writing her own, "The Odyssey of an American Artist"... Friday eve has been "penciled in" for Ward Morehouse, the B'way critic-chronicler, to play the title role in "Clutterbuck" in the West Hampton (L. I.) Playhouse. The character doesn't speak a word until after the final curtain. A different celeb will appear in it each night.

Looking at Life

By Erich Brandeis

What is a spinster?

That's what the local council of Nelson, Lancashire, England, would like to find out.

The council built ten apartments available to "spinsters." Sixty women applied. Some were only 25 years of age.

The council turned these down. The apartments were intended for unmarried women over fifty. The girls looked up the law books, then went back to the council.

"Spinsters," said the books, "are unmarried girls over 18."

Just to satisfy myself, I looked "spinsters" up in my dictionary. "Spinster. 1. A woman who spins. 2. Formerly, a title given to unmarried women of the gentle classes from a viscount's daughter down."

No, that couldn't be it. But here we have it: "3. Popularly, an old maid."

So now for "old maid." This is what it says: "Old maid. 1. An elderly or confirmed spinster. 2. colloq. A fussy, nervous, timid person."

That's just what I thought. "Old maid" has nothing to do with age. It is a state of mind. Some people are old maids at eight, others at eighteen, still others at eighty.

An old maid is not necessarily a female. Men can also be "old maids." And when they are, they are twice as old-maidish as their female counterparts.

The old maid, for instance, will go over her check in a restaurant with a fine-tooth comb.

She (or he) will count her (or his) change two or three times. She (or he) will look at every ten-dollar bill with suspicion to see whether it might not be a counterfeit.

She (or he) will carefully examine the Sunday newspaper she boys to see whether the comic section is left out.

Here is what the Russians think of the "old maid" — particularly the American one: "This is the home of the little dog Toby, whose mistress, a mad American old maid, left it $75,000.00."

"The dog sleeps on a golden bed; it is attended by a staff of forty-five servants and six lawyers."

"The dog's apartment, a drawing room, a dining room, and a bath room, are done up according to the latest work in fashion."

That is what the Russians told their listeners on the radio last week.

If anybody asked me how to avoid becoming an old maid, I would suggest watching those who are happily married.

How do they act? What do they do? What have THEY got that I haven't got?

But above all, I'd try not to be too "old-maidish."

However, everybody just can't get married. There are not enough men to go 'round.

So, if you don't succeed, make the best of it.

CUTIES

—By E. Simms Campbell

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The Letters of Emergency Enul Dear Babe:

I got your letter asking if the cease-fire production going on over here in Korea is the original one or if it is just a revival like "Show Boat." I think it is the original production and also the original company, but it's been such a long time since the show opened that I can't be sure.

Today, the word was flashed that the delegates had at last reached an agreement on the cease fire but it turned out it was just an agreement on the agenda. In other words, what you will hear about next is that the delegates have at last agreed on what they will talk about in reaching a further agreement. A further agreement must find both sides agreeing before there can be a cease fire. It is all done by mirrors, revolving doors and secret panels. I have seen more progress made by greyhounds chasing electric rabbits.

Do not expect me home on the next boat. Or the one after that. The way I look at it, the real trouble will start with the discussion of the subjects put on the agenda after a rugged fight in which the dove of peace took a beating all along the line. It serves a dove right for insisting that he have his own man on hand to count at the knock-downs.

Before this war I never even heard of the word "agenda." I think I seen it once in a crossword puzzle, but for all I knew it could be from somebody's patent medicine spelled backwards. But I know what heavy fighting it caused at the U. N. meetings.

Sergeant Mooney says an agenda is a program with built-in powder fuses. It is a list of things which now has to be argued over in Technicolor, with the Reds getting the usual chance for upside-down talk. It will get on television for fall and autumn performances in the East River U. N. skyscraper. All they need is a sponsor. I understand six headache powder companies are bidding for it.

Much as I want to get out of this weird country I got a hunch the peace talks will not be over before the swallows get back to Capistrano or before Malik gets back to his monkey wrenches. I am afraid it will just bring Jake, Sir Gladwyn, Warren Austin and all those boys back into the act with consecutive translations, the meetings beginning around 11 a. m., and the delegates all adjourning around 3 p. m. on account of they have put in such a long day and have so many dinner engagements.

I look for the question of foreign troops scrambling out of Korea to become the number one argument and by the time it is ended they will all be too used to the country to know if they are foreign or native. The Red argument that all Chinese in Korea were waiting for a street-car but that all G. I.'s are Wall Street agents rushed in to develop Asia as an American pleasure resort should last until around Christmas at least, with the subject of recognizing Red China getting aired for the TV audiences early next spring.

Then will come the Formosa item, maybe around Fourth of July. Do not think me a pessimist, Babe. I am just a back-sliding optimist with ingrowing suspicions of any peace agreements that have to go through so many council halls.

I just read where U. N. has finished a new council building on East River with six separate council rooms. That is at least four over par even for U. N. This building also includes an outdoor dining terrace, a de luxe bar and a super lounge. You just can't give human beings all their comforts and expect them to move fast. Peace would maybe close the whole joint and make the diplomats eat indoors without a river view. Well, if the hassle over peace lasts as long I think it will. I wish General Ridgway would do something about de luxe bars and dining terraces for the G. I.'s over here in Korea so they can enjoy the long delay too. I could use a lounge, too.

Anyhow, hope for the best and say a special prayer that the debates will not be tougher than the war. And write me a letter every day, as I will need them more than ever when the shooting stops and I have nothing to do but wonder where you are, what you are doing and why I am not with you.

A stack of embraces.

Tobyhanna Planning Survey Envisages 2,500-Family Town

Annual Income Will Exceed $5 Million

Tobyhanna — Residents of Coolbaugh township are invited by the Board of Township Supervisors and the Zoning commission to a meeting August 23 in the high school for a preview of the preliminary report on a planning survey being made by Clifton Rodgers, planning consultant and his staff of experts.

This meeting will be featured by complete charts and drawings of the prospective Tobyhanna community which is expected to develop as a result of the 5,000 employees, $30,000,000 Signal depot here. A total primary income of about $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 annually will be earned by new residents.

The preliminary report is based on facts, figures and current municipal planning and engineering trends, plus a careful background study.

Among other things it will show that a community of 2,500 families will result from the impact of the new employment factor in the region.

This conclusion is based on the fact that previous experience has shown 50 per cent of employees in a new industry will prefer to commute distances from 25 to 30 miles from their established homes.

The 2,500 families allow for a suitable margin of safety for service workers—those who will operate or work in the stores, gas stations, etc.

This analysis by the Rodgers planners establishes a construction goal of 2,500 homes in the vicinity of Tobyhanna. The report states that due to the nature of the area, the majority would logically be single family, detached dwellings, with a small percentage of garden apartments to accommodate unmarried workers or young couples.

Lot sizes, according to the preliminary report, can be expected to range from a minimum lot area of 7,500 square feet to small estates several acres in size.

Planning experts break down number of homes required into lot size categories as follows: Lot 7,500 square feet; 10,000 to 20,000 square feet, 850 dwellings, requiring total of 8,500,000 square feet; 20,000 square feet, 30 dwellings, requiring 600,000 square feet, making total land requirements for 2,500 dwellings 21,500,000 square feet.

Monthly rental factors or mortgage payments set up in the preliminary report run from $45 to over $100 a month, depending on type of home, and incomes expected to be paid.

Report notes that the favorable financial status indicated will permit construction of housing largely by private enterprise, with the aid of FHA financing.

Consultants point out that in a community of 2,500 families approximately 800 to 900 elementary school students can be expected. An equal, or slightly lower number of secondary school students must also be accommodated. Planners note this will require three or four elementary school buildings, as well as adequate secondary schools facilities. Careful planning must be exercised, the reports state, in order the economical use be made of existing building now operated by the school district.

It will be important in the beginning to reserve areas for school sites large enough to provide adequate play space. Lots of at least five acres are recommended for elementary buildings, 20 acres or more for secondary schools.

In dealing with plans for a shopping center for the new community, consulting experts estimated that the $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 primary annual income will, in turn, be expended for such items as rent, utilities, household furnishings, food clothing, entertainment, transportation and taxation.

It can be anticipated, therefore, planners point out, that a sizeable shopping center may be erected to absorb the purchasing power represented by this total income. Facilities required may include: food markets, banking, branch department store, furniture, shoes, clothing, drugs and variety stores; theatre, bowling alley, restaurants and other entertainment features; commercial and professional offices, and personal service shops.

An adequate system of public utilities, including both water and sewerage systems, will be essential to successful development of the community. The large investment required to install these systems must be undertaken, planners emphasize, to attract private investment capital, as well as protect the public health.

Preliminary studies have already been made to determine proper source of water supply and location of sewage disposal plant. Investigations are also being made to provide these facilities without imposing an undue financial burden on the community, the report advises.

Requirements as to area for this community involve about "500 acres for housing estimated future population, and an additional 500 acres for streets, shopping center, schools, parks and playgrounds.

The report says preliminary studies have been made to delineate

Moody Offers Bunche For Moscow Post

Washington (AP)—Senator Moody (D-Mich.) said yesterday he has asked President Truman to appoint Ralph Bunche ambassador to Russia.

"Irrespective of race, Bunche is one of our finest diplomats," Moody told a reporter.

"It is peculiarly fortunate that he also is a Negro. As ambassador to Moscow he would be a living refutation to Communist racial propaganda against the United States."

Moody expressed this view in telephone talks yesterday with White House and State department officials. They were "very interested," the senator said.

The State department has said Ambassador Alan Kirk will return from his post in Moscow this fall.

Members of the Stroudsburg flight of the Civil Air Patrol, under direction of Lt. Raymond Al-leger, met last night at the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg airport where several members of the flight experienced air orientation. Close order drill sessions were also conducted.

Bangor Class Plans Reunion

Bangor—The class of 1945, Bangor High school, will hold its reunion August 25 at the Bartonsville, hotel.

This was decided at a meeting held last night at the home of Sam Smith, Bangor. Phillip Sabatine, vice-president of the class, presided, and announced that Bernie Parsons and his orchestra will supply the music for the affair.

1,000 acres of land in the vicinity of Tobyhanna which will be suitable for the new development. Such land areas must fulfill the following requirements, the engineers emphasize:

Tracts should be of a size to accommodate large-scale development.

Topography must permit proper grading of streets and building sites.

Building sites should be above the water table.

Prospective areas must be serviceable by water and sewerage facilities.

All of these findings and conclusions must be further studied and drawn together in form of a future Development Plan for the community. A physical plan will be prepared for development areas selected, including the location of streets, residences, schools, shopping center, utilities and other features. The report notes these facilities must be adequate to serve the population anticipated and within its financial means to support.

The development plan will serve as a guide to future development of the community. As each stage of development is undertaken, it can be fitted into the framework of the over-all plan, consultants emphasize. Results, they point out, will be found in an orderly and attractive development, capable of attracting and serving residents in a sound, attractive and effective manner.

Ben-Gurion's Party Polls Highest Vote In Israel

Tel Aviv, Israel, (AP)—Premier David Ben-Gurion's Mapai Socialist Laborites improved on their 1949 showing as Israel's No. 1 party in returns yesterday from the general election and the Mapam, a pro-Russian rival for the labor vote, was nudged out of second place.

The General Zionists, a liberal-right-wing group which campaigned on a program of free enterprise under the joint leadership of Israel Rorach and Perez Bernstein, moved into the No. 2 spot in the race for the 120 seats of the new Knesset (parliament).

The Mapai party, which won 35.82 per cent of the votes in Israel's first general election Jan. 25, 1949, was credited with 39.1 per cent from 987 of the country's 1,500 precincts.

That means Ben-Gurion's party will again have the biggest voice in the Knesset, but will have to continue to work with others to run the government. That hasn't always been easy.

"It's Ben-Gurion's victory," commented a Tel Aviv political observer, "but it's also Ben-Gurion's dilemma."

The General Zionists had 16.7 per cent of the counted votes and the Mapam party, led by Meir Yaari, 11.9. The right-wing Herut (freedom) party, formed by members of the disbanded extremist Irgun Zvai Leumi, took 6.7.

The Religious Workers party, Hapoel Hamizrachi, led by Moshe Shapira drew 6.36 per cent; the left liberal Progressives of Dr. Abraham Granot 3.58 per cent and the Communists, under the joint leadership of Samuel Mikunis and Twisk Rubi, 3.32.

State Senate Group Okays Gas War Bill

Harrisburg, (AP)—The Senate Highways committee yesterday approved a bill designed to curb gas-oil line price wars.

The measure, which already has won approval of the House would limit gasoline station operators to displaying gas price signs no larger than 10 by 12 inches.

On the sign, the price of gas per gallon would have to be clearly and uniformly printed, along with the grade of gasoline and a listing and total of Federal, State and other taxes per gallon.

Violators would be fined $100 or in default of payment would be sentenced to 30 days in jail. Sponsors of the measure are Reps. D. W. Doyle (R-Erie) and Robert R. Clapper (R-Bedford).

The Senate committee also gave its approval last night to another House measure to require trucks and other large highway vehicles to attach devices to their rear wheels to prevent mud spray.

The bill, sponsored by Reps. Raymond E. Wilt (R-Allegheny) and Harry W. Price Jr. (R-Mifflin), stipulates that the devices must be effective enough to prevent spray from flying higher than 22 and a half degrees above the level of the highway.

Violators would be fined $10 and costs and be given five days in jail for default.

Former Hawaiian Communist Testifies Union President Linked To Red Headquarters

Honolulu, (AP)—A story of 12 years of alleged Communist party activities in Hawaii, linking the leader of the islands' 21,000 longshore, sugar and pineapple workers with Red headquarters in California and New York, was released yesterday by the House Un-American Activities committee.

The committee made public the 25,000-word testimony of Jack H. Kawano, 40, who said he was a member of the Communist party's local executive board in 1939 when he quit both the party and Harry Bridges' International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union. Kawano testified before the committee in a closed session in Washington July 6.

The island-born Japanese labor leader identified Jack W. Hall, Hawaii regional director of the ILWU as a Communist since 1937 and member of the Red executive board from 1946 through 1949. He named 46 other Communist party members.

Hall issued a statement charging that Kawano's testimony and its release at this time was a "fabricated attack" against the ILWU.

Kawano told the committee that national Communist headquarters in New York decided policy disputes between Hall and non-union members of the Red executive board in Hawaii.

Hall "sometimes resented" having decisions forced on him by Communists who were not union members, Kawano said.

Kawano testified that Hall was finally satisfied when a "good working arrangement" was made at San Francisco in a meeting with Harry Bridges, head of the ILWU. Vice President J. R. Robertson and Secretary-Treasurer Louis Goldblatt.

Provide Lots Of Storage. Closet Space

One of the points a good housekeeper stresses when she consults an architect is that there be plenty of closets and adequate storage space planned for her home.

Any architect, builder or home owner may arrange for adequate closet space, wardrobes and cases of all sorts in the plan of a house if the matter is given due consideration before starting to build. For closets may be worked into the most unusual corners and unexpected places but their placement will require thought and nice planning before the actual building construction of the house starts.

Should List Items to Be Stored

One of the first things the home owner should do is to make a list of all the various household items that must be stored away in closets while not in use. Such a list should include seasonal clothing, linen storage, vacuum cleaners, card tables, sewing machines, golf bags and other sport accessories. Of course china and places for food storage should also be considered.

After this list is made, give it to your architect or builder and tell him to plan closets for all these items.

Clothes closets are better about 24 inches deep rather than the old-fashioned deep and dusty closets of a few years ago. Hanging rods are better than clothes hooks; linens should be stored flat with deep shelves and compartments arranged for various sizes of bedding, towels, etc.

It is very practical to have a large storage closet somewhere in the house where off-season clothing may be stored. Such closets should be provided with plenty of deep shelves and hanging rods.

Under sloping roofs of many houses, closets may be built that use the otherwise wasted space to advantage. They make fine closets if not too deep.

If closets are on an outside wall it is advisable to have a small window in the closet for light and ventilation and by all means have an electric light in each closet which is best placed to the front of the closet so the shelves may be well lighted.

Windows, Doors Key Features

Windows and doors are important features of a home esthetically as well as functionally. They should be simple in shape and of generous proportions, and a correct relationship between window and wall should exist. Well-designed, bay windows add useful space within and attractive form without but one dominating the main portion of the house is likely to be awkward.

Take Your Time

Don't be in too much of a hurry when you use paint and varnish remover. Give it time to soften the coating. The old paint or varnish then should be easy to scrape off.

DDT Closet Lining

Cedar paper containing DDT has been developed as a lining for clothes closets and storage chests to protect against moths and other insects.

Brightens Brass

To clean brass, mix flour and salt in equal parts to which vinegar has been added to smooth paste. Apply mixture and let dry. Wash in suds and polish.

Comb Paint Brush

thing to have around when cleaning a paint brush. A good combing will remove the paint that collects at the base of the bristles.

GI Loan Average

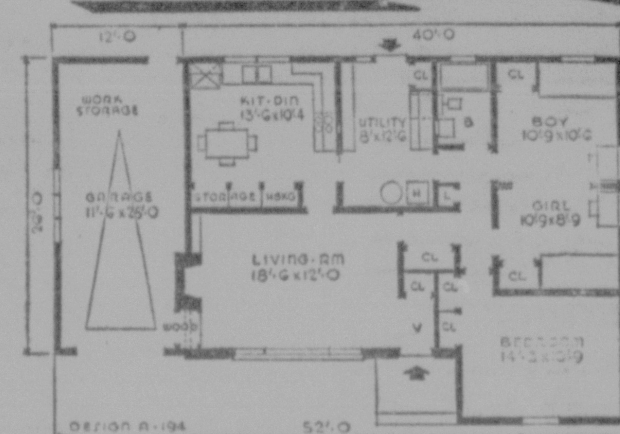

The average GI home loan made to date by savings and loan associations and co-operative banks has been $3246.

Repainting Tin Roof

Before repainting a tin roof, scrape old paint blisters and rust away with sandpaper and wipe the surface clean with turpentine.

Menace To Life

A cracked furnace firebox may allow fumes to escape into the house and cause asphyxiation.

THE ARNOLD has a first floor housed in the utility room and that is formed by an insulated concrete slab laid on a gravel fill. Heating and laundry equipment is portant in the basementless house.

The two smaller bedrooms are separated by a folding partition and may be opened into a daytime playroom, or a solid partition can be substituted if desired. Closets are all of the wardrobe type which utilizes the space above for added storage room.

The plan also shows a fireplace with bookshelves and wood-box, picture window, entrance coat closets, generous cabinets and kitchen dining space, as well.

Exterior finish is siding, asphalt shingles and stone facing in front. Dimensions are 40 feet by 26 feet. Area is 1,132 square feet and cubic 12,936, not including garage.

For further information about THE ARNOLD, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Bathrooms Have More Cabinets

More storage space in the bathroom is a dream of many homemakers which is being incorporated into modern building plans.

One new trend is the use of cabinets similar to the kitchen variety. Often provision is made for two medicine cabinets. Many builders are enclosing the space under the lavatory and utilizing it for storage. This improves the appearance of the bathroom by concealing plumbing connections.

Bathroom walls must stand up under much more severe conditions than those of other rooms, so the materials should be chosen with care.

A built-in ventilation fan and a built-in electric auxiliary heating unit will be welcome additions to the new bathroom.

Radiator Covers Asbestos Lined

In a year for which more home remodeling is predicted, it is real news that good-looking enclosures for exposed radiators are now available.

These covers are made of heavy, steel lined in asbestos, and are made in several sizes and colors. An extra charge is made if simulated wood grain finish is desired. Not only do the covers tend to groom a room, but surface soil is diminished.

Shower Head Self Cleaning

A new type of head for bath showers has a simple arrangement for dislodging any particles, rust or sediment that may become lodged within it. Science Service reports. The head is bullet-shaped and has a button on its face which, when pushed, permits the water to drive out the foreign matter.

Finishing Shingles

Shingles may be either stained or painted. Stain may be applied without prior preparation of the surface, provided that it is clean and has no greasy film. When using paint, the first coat should be thin and the paint used as directed on the label by the manufacturer.

Cleaning Asbestos

The Department of Agriculture says that washing or scrubbing with water and a fairly mild soap is the safest and most satisfactory way to clean asbestos shingles. If the shingles are to be refinished, an oil paint rather than a stain should be used.

Boon To Housewives

Housewives' demands for kitchen work surfaces that can't be marred by acids or extreme heat have resulted in widespread use of clay tile surfacings for kitchen drain-boards, counter tops and back splashes.

Place House To Its Best Advantage

Although orientation of a house upon a plot of land is frequently overlooked in home building, it is of utmost importance according to leading architects and builders. They advise planning the site and the building to fit together in closest possible harmony.

Orientation is explained as making the most of the view, of the sun throughout the day, and of the prevailing breeze. Privacy can also be obtained by properly locating a house.

Home building experience shows it is best to have the living room face south, southeast or east. Many families also find it desirable to have the living room face away from the street with its noise and dirt.

In this respect, odd-shaped lots can often be used to good advantage. A garden or terrace is placed at the side or rear of the house and the living room situated with a view in that direction.

A variation of this style is a U-shaped house with the living room opening on a terrace between the wings. This frequently is desirable on narrow lots in crowded suburban areas.

The kitchen should not face west, because in that direction it gathers heat from the hot afternoon sun. Some architects prefer to place the kitchen on the north side of the house where normal kitchen heat will help absorb cold winter winds.

Bedrooms, used largely at night, ordinarily can face any direction. However, one common objection to a bedroom which has an eastward window is that morning sun enters the room at an unwelcome hour of the day.

Architectural styles in general must also be considered in planning harmony between house and ground. For example, a house designed for a level lot might not take advantage of certain charming features which can be devised for a hillside lot. Or an architectural treatment ideal for a corner lot can lose its appeal when placed between two other houses.

Russia Seems To Lack Final Preparedness

By J. M. Roberts Jr.

(Associated Press News Analysis)
Even if there were no Iranian or Yugoslav problem at the moment, students of Russia's curve-throwing technique would be led by the very intensity of her current peace offensive to consider anew the prospects of war.

General Marshall and other military leaders, explaining their money needs to Congress this week, are saying that the enemy's build-up has increased the chances of war.

President Truman said the other day that armament of Russia's satellites in eastern Europe was being pressed. Reports from Poland in connection with a purge of Army officers suggest that the Polish Army is now completely in the hands of Russian or Russian-trained officers.

Under the circumstances, Molotov's blast at the Tito government in Yugoslavia sent tremors throughout the world's chancelleries, although it was considered more of a warning against Titoism in Poland than a direct threat against Belgrade.

Until now, Tito has been considered capable of taking care of himself, with the aid of western supplies, against any attack by the satellites alone. Under that circumstance, which would have required direct Russian intervention, war was considered unlikely. Whether that remains true, with the increasing emphasis on Czechoslovakia's arms industry and arrival of more equipment from Russia, is not known. There is some doubt.

The Iranian situation seems to be easing somewhat. A Communist coup had been expected there if Nationalist intransigence resulted in the collapse of the Iranian oil industry with chaotic economic consequences. Averell Harriman apparently has made some impression on the Iranians with his argument that they cannot hope to go it alone. Renewed Anglo-Iranian negotiations may be able to close the door which had been partly opened to Russia. A Russian attack there while the British remain by firm agreement with the Teheran government is hardly to be expected. It would be a direct challenge to world war three.

When that war comes it is far more likely to be through some such act as Hitler's invasion of Poland which set off World War Two. Russia will be prepared for general war, but will be hoping for just one more grab without it, just as she hoped in Korea.

When generals talk about the possibilities of war they mean a situation in which they have to be prepared for the outside chance if they are to do their jobs properly.

Actually, so far as Europe is concerned, Russia still seems to lack the last final margin of preparedness for war.

To take the last preparatory steps, Stalin would have to telegraph his punch. Those steps are not under way yet. If he is willing to force those last steps to seek surprise, he might find the Allies more alert and more able than he thought. He would be taking a very long chance of losing everything, whereas at the moment he would seem to be doing pretty well without it. War, from his standpoint, doesn't seem to be challenging at the moment.

Editor, Daily Record,
Dear Editor:
Something has been puzzling me no end. How is it that a community as ours does not offer the opportunity for its people and their guests to arrive by train in New York at a reasonable hour in the morning?

As it is, you either get up at four in the morning to catch the 5:17, which puts you out of shape for the rest of the day, or you arrive in mid-town Manhattan by the 8:32 just in time to go to lunch, so again the day is shot.

There must be good and weighty reasons why the Chamber of Commerce has not succeeded in rectifying this deplorable state of affairs. In my ignorance of the facts, I thought calling these matters to your attention might in some way or another, shed some light upon the peculiar picture.

If a convenient train could be provided, around seven in the morning, how many more of the vacationists would stay on, giving their hosts another day of income? And we, poor businessmen wouldn't have to travel thirty miles to Easton to get reasonable train service.

Through your paper you can, I am sure, if nothing else, ferret out the facts, and, possibly, go further than this.

Well, here is hoping.
Sincerely,
Fred N. Severud

Auxiliary Police Bill Approved

Harrisburg (AP)—The Senate passed a bill yesterday to establish auxiliary police forces around the State to serve in the event of disasters or other emergencies, including enemy air raids.

The bill, which was sent to the House, would leave up to local governments recruiting of the emergency police force, which the State Council of Civil Defense expects to reach a total of more than 80,000.

The auxiliary police would serve under the police chief in their own municipality but could be loaned to other communities upon request and with consent of the Governor. The bill bans the transfer of the auxiliaries to other communities.

PALOMAR'S GIANT EYE

ATOP Mount Palomar in southern California, the huge, 200-inch reflecting telescope of the California Institute of Technology is snapping pictures of events so far distant no other eye on earth can see them in such detail. Two prize pictures show a spiral nebula 45 million million million miles away. To send light such a distance the nebula must be about a billion times brighter than the sun. Eventually, it is hoped, the giant scope will bring in objects six billion million million miles away.

Spiral nebula Messier 81, picked up by Palomar's scope, is three million light years distant.

Briton Tells Russians Of West's Peace Aims

London, Wednesday (AP) — British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison told the Russian people through a Moscow newspaper today that if they were really free they would know the West wants peace and Soviet leaders are sowing the seeds of war.

Morrison's plain-spoken, 1,500-word statement was published in the Communist party newspaper Pravda. In a speech at a British Press association luncheon June 13, Morrison had challenged Pravda to print fully a statement from either him or Prime Minister Attlee.

Pravda accepted the challenge. It also published a 2,600-word rebuttal. The texts of both the message and the rebuttal were made public in London at the hour of Pravda's press run.

At the same time Russia's new English-language magazine, the News, announced it would give space to both United States and Russian journalists in its columns "for the expression of ideas designed to promote friendly relations between our country and America."

Morrison's statement to the Russians said:

"You are told that we are warmongers, that in alliance with the other countries of West Europe and the United States of America we are arming to the teeth to attack the Soviet Union, that we are engaging in an arms race; that we are preparing for a new war. This is not true. None of it is true."

Morrison said that in Russia there is "no freedom of speech and free access to knowledge of how the rest of the world lives and thinks, which is essential to understanding of each other."

"This ignorance creates fear and suspicion of the motive of other peoples," Morrison said.

"I regret, therefore, that full knowledge of what is happening in my country is not available to you."

Morrison said even British broadcasts to Russia are "artificially and intentionally jammed by your government."

"Our view is that, in a free and enlightened democracy, everyone is able to judge for himself the truth of what he hears or reads."

Pravda wrote in reply:

"In the USSR freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of organizations does not exist for enemies of the people, for the landlords and capitalists overthrown by the revolution. Nor does it exist for incorrigible thieves, for subversive agents, terrorists and assassins sent in by foreign secret services, for the criminals who shot at Lenin."

"Surely it is not for these gentlemen that Mr. Morrison seeks freedom of speech, freedom of the press and personal freedom?"

The British broadcasts to Russia, Pravda said also, constitutes "interference in the internal affairs of the USSR."

Morrison said the British people "do not want a third world war." He added:

"Our alliances are defensive alliances. With you we have the Anglo-Soviet treaty of alliance concluded in 1942. The North Atlantic treaty is another defensive alliance. They are not directed against any one except an aggressor."

Retorted Pravda:

"If this is true, why did the initiators of the (Atlantic) pact not invite the Soviet Union to take part in it? Why did they fence themselves off from the Soviet Union? Why did they conclude it behind the USSR's back and in secrecy from it?"

Pravda also said that Britain and the United States have refused to discuss the Atlantic pact at a Big Four foreign ministers' meeting.

Morrison asked why the West felt it needed to build up its armed forces and then answered his own question:

"To be frank with you, it is because of the policy which has been pursued by the Soviet government since the end of the war. We expected and strove for cooperation with you in the United Nations. But, alas, our hopes were disappointed. They were changed to doubts by your government's refusal to cooperate in Germany and in the economic rehabilitation of Europe. These doubts were confirmed as we watched the imposition of Communist regimes in Eastern Europe and the establishment of the Cominform."

Morrison turned to Russia's armed forces. He said the West demobilized after the war, Russia did not.

"The Soviet government has already stated officially that it demobilized 32 age groups, that its army is at present approximately the size that it was in peace-time before the Second World War, and that the British and American armies on the contrary are double the size they were before the Second World War.

"Would Mr. Morrison like the USSR not to have an army sufficient for defense?"

Morrison added, "I hope what I have written so frankly will help to bring about a better understanding between our peoples and that, now Pravda, has opened its columns to me, I shall have further opportunities of putting the British point of view before the Russian people and of answering any observations which Pravda may wish to make."

In its rebuttal, Pravda didn't say whether it would give Morrison another chance to put his views to the Russian people through its columns.

OVER-ALL VIEW OF THE ANTIQUE SHOW which opened yesterday in the Armory under the auspices of the General Hospital auxiliary of Monroe county. The show will continue through Friday. (Daily Record photo)

Attendance Brisk At Antique Show

The hottest day of the summer didn't keep antique lovers from thronging the armory in East Stroudsburg yesterday where more than 35 dealers from many sections of the county had their pleasures on display.

The four-day show which opened yesterday is sponsored by the General Hospital auxiliary, with Mrs. Gilbert Barthold as general manager of the show, and now in its seventh year.

All available space is set with booths and presents a colorful picture with the lights reflected from ruby and sapphire and amber glass, from silver and jewelry and polished wood.

Even a casual trip through the show reveals the wide variety of articles to which the years have added value, from treasures like heirloom silver and imported porcelain to trifles like match dispensers still bearing the name of the advertiser who gave it away.

Miniatures so small that it takes a magnifying glass to appreciate the detail of handwork involved; long iron forks which might have hung in some colonial fireplace kitchen; cookie cutters and door hinges; whale oil lamps, Florence Nightingale lamps, fairy lamps are among the articles.

There are dolls of all sizes and ages: China heads, real hair wigs; Punch and Judy puppets; the darling young man on the velvet trapeze, complete with flying tight; a doll carriage with fringe on top.

There is fine china, much of it with a history. For instance there is a frog pot once used in the frog shops of England. Within its capacious interior is a frog, and the theory was that when a man could no longer see the frog, he'd had enough.

There are velvet covered albums, and scrapbooks of ancient theater lore; manuscripts and old prints; primitives and guns and furniture.

The cafeteria, which is managed by the women of the auxiliary, also did a brisk business throughout the day. Mrs. William Moore and Mrs. Nathan Meyer, who were in charge, were assisted by Nancy Strauser, Pattie Hunt, Nancy Newhart, Patsy Dodson and Peggy Gearhart, who also served the ice cream and pop which is the responsibility of the Girl Scouts.

Those present included: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Widdoss, Larry and Joyce Widdoss, and Barton Strohl, of Easton; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Widdoss, daughter, Barbara Ann, and Miss Marian Smith, of Hackettstown, N. J.; Miss Arlene Graboski, of Scranton; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Courtright, and Ben Burley, of Mt. Household Hints

Take corned beef hash out of the can whole, cut in half lengthwise, then brush with a tablespoon of catsup and bake in a moderate oven for 20 to 25 minutes. Serve with creamed potatoes and a tossed green salad to which coarsely grated carrots have been added.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Well, at least now I know three ways of shucking clams — you can put them in ginger ale which tickles them, I guess, and they open their traps laughing; you can bang their heads, which must knock the wind out of them so they gasp; or you can borrow a clam shucker from your favorite sea food enthusiast.

Anyway, I appreciate your interest. Certainly helped on a day when I needed encouragement. For the first time in—well years, I guess, there wasn't a thing listed on the social calendar for either Monday or Tuesday, which combined with the heat and the humidity made the prospect anything but cheerful.

Of course the antique show which opened yesterday sort of proved a social calendar in itself. Met more people I haven't seen all summer wandering around, or working in various capacities.

And for the rest of the week, looks like we'll all be working meetings, families, church bazaars and picnic reunions are thronging thick and fast these next few days.

You could really figure it so you wouldn't have to cook at all. Lunch at the antique show and your choice of suppers or picnics all over the place.

All you'd need to do was bring your own table service, and you could get a free meal at almost any playground. Might sort of queer if the whole family came trailing along with empty plates and a hungry look.

Reunion Of Serfasses At Fairgrounds

Kresgeville — The thirteenth annual reunion of the Serfass-Serfoss family was held at the West End fairgrounds, Gilbert, on Sunday, July 29, with the full program, including the address by Rev. M. Luther Wahrman carried out.

Palmer F. Serfass, president of the reunion, presided at the program which included memorial services for departed members with Mrs. Mary A. Shafer in charge of the necrology; special music by a vocal trio composed of Miss Betty Behler, Miss Roberta Behler and Miss Marlene Serfass, a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Arlington Remaly; and a selection by Mrs. William Serfass.

Prizes were awarded by Mrs. Sadie Bollinger to Mr. and Mrs. Evan Jones who came the greatest distance; to Mr. and Mrs. John Fogel the oldest married couple; to Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Strohl, the most recently married couple; to Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Serfass who had the largest family.

Also honored were Mrs. Alice Andrews, the oldest lady; Milton Serfass, the oldest man; and Constance Craig, the youngest child.

The West End fairgrounds were selected as the site for the 1952 reunion, and the last Sunday in July as the reunion date.

Officers were elected as follows: Palmer F. Serfass, Stroudsburg, president; Floyd Altemose, Saylorsburg, first vice president; Martin Serfass, Kresgeville, second vice president; Mrs. Maggie Kunkel, Palmerton, secretary; and Mrs. Clinton Craig, Aquashicola, treasurer.

The following committee chairmen were also named: Mrs. Mary A. Shafer, Allentown, necrology; Mrs. Maggie Kunkel, Palmerton, publicity; Mrs. Sadie Bollinger, Palmerton; prize committee; Mrs. Ethel Schweitzer, Palmerton, sports; Clarence A. Hawk, Cherryville, historical committee.

Following the meeting a sports program was held under the direction of Mrs. Schweitzer, chairman.

Driver-Course Bill Receives Senate Okay

Harrisburg, (AP)—The Senate passed legislation yesterday to establish a standardized driver-training program in public schools throughout the Commonwealth.

The plan was embodied in three bills. All of them previously had passed the House. After the Senate action two of them went to the Governor. The third was returned to the House for action on a minor amendment.

The plan calls for increasing the fee for learner's permits in Pennsylvania from $2 to $4 to provide funds to set up the program.

Half of the $4 fee would be allocated to the Department of Public Instruction to make payments to school districts carrying out the standardized program.

Allocation of funds to the various school districts would be in proportion to the number of students taking the course.

The Department of Public Instruction would be permitted to keep up to five per cent of total money received through learner's license fees for operating costs of the program.

The department would further aid conduct of the program by providing printed instructional material.

Sponsors of the legislation are Reps. T. Luke Toomey (R-Perry) and J. Hiram Swope (D-Berks).

Charles To Insist On Title Scrap According To Contract

New York, (AP)—Ezzard Charles will insist on Jersey Joe Walcott going through with his return bout within 90 days of their July 18 battle at Pittsburgh.

Tom Tannas, co-manager of the dethroned heavyweight champion, made this positive yesterday when he arrived for a meeting with Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing club, and Felix Boechicchio, manager for Walcott.

The three men will get together this afternoon to iron out the heavyweight situation.

Wants Postponement

It is known that Boechicchio wants to put off any title bout until next year, possibly January. The 37-year-old champion is busy cashing in on his newly-won crown.

"The return bout in September or early October is a must," said Tannas. "What's the use of having contracts if we don't live up to them. We have a contract with Walcott calling for the return within 90 days of July 18. And we'll insist on his going through with it."

"The last time I saw Felix in Pittsburgh he talked as though he certainly was going to go through with the return. But I've been reading different things in the papers."

"The fighter is anxious for the return. He wants it the worst way."

"We don't care where it is. Any place Jim Norris says is okay with us although Pittsburgh certainly deserves another fight after the way they supported the last one."

A mid-October date at the Chicago Stadium is a possible result of today's conference although New York and Pittsburgh also are in the running.

Defending Champion Advances

Youngstown, O. (AP)—Defending champion Bob Buchanan of Indianapolis and co-medalist Ross Collins of Monticello, Ark., won easily yesterday in the second round of the seventeenth South-paw Golfers' tournament.

Buchanan beat Don Kelsey of Blacksburg, Va., and Collins defeated Carmen Wyman of St. Louis, both by scores of six and four.

Co-medalist Richard Zinn of York, Pa., went down, one-up, to Jack Walters of Tacoma, Wash., who was runner-up last year.

Other Scores

Jim Bartell, Jr., 21-year-old from Pittsburgh, knocked out Alvin Everett of Rome, Ga., six and four. Everett was three time champion of the left-handers.

The starting field of 95 has now been cut to 16.

Second round results included: Herb Heinlein, Indiana, Pa., defeated John Castor, Youngstown, five and four.

Max Caplan, Rye, N. Y., defeated Jim Kinzel, Jr., of Flint, Mich., four and three.

Philadelphia PGA Listed For Shawnee

Shawnee - on - Delaware - The Philadelphia District PGA championship golf tournament will be played over the Shawnee Inn and Country club championship course here August 20, 21, 22 and 26.

This year's tournament will be the fourth in succession played at Shawnee. Clarence Ehresman, Ashbourne Country club, Philadelphia, won the title here last year; Henry Williams, Tully Seane, Pa., was the winner of the 1949 tournament and "Bud" Lewis, Manufacturers Country club, Oreland, Pa., won the crown in 1948.

Williams established a championship record the year he won the title when he posted a five-under-par 67 medal score. He also broke a 12-year record for the Shawnee course which Byron Nelson established with a 68 while winning the National PGA crown in 1937.

Larger Fields

Each year the tournament has been held at Shawnee the field has grown larger. Harry Obitz, head pro here, estimates between 75 and 80 pros will be in the field this year for an all-time tournament record.

The large field of pros also will assure the annual Shawnee pro-member championship tournament, scheduled for Sunday, August 19, of a record field. This event annually pairs some of the country's top-flight amateurs with the pros, resulting in par smashing scores.

Mintz To Face Commission Officials Today

Harrisburg (AP)—The Pennsylvania Athletic commission calls volatile Jake Mintz on the carpet today to answer its charges of "conduct detrimental to the interests of boxing."

The co-manager of former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles is under a temporary suspension for protesting against an official in the July 18 fight at Pittsburgh in which Charles was knocked out by Jersey Joe Walcott.

The three-man commission is expected to discipline the fast-talking little Pittsburgher by either a fine or a continued suspension. Maximum penalty would be a complete revocation of his boxing managers license.

Plans

Mintz planned to present his side of the story at a hearing called by the commission to consider his suspension. The National Boxing association also slapped a temporary suspension on Mintz, pending the state group's decision.

The NBA, ruling body for 47 states, has indicated it will concur if any penalty imposed by the Pennsylvania commission. The New York state Boxing commission, which also has an agreement with the state group, also is expected to go along with the decision.

"This is a serious matter," chairman George Jones told a newsmen. "Mr. Mintz, by his action, held up a title fight for ten minutes and reflected on the officials and the commission."

"A co-manager of a champion should be one to set an example for the rest," Jones said.

Giants Trip Cubs On Thomson's Circuit Blows

Chicago (AP)—Bobby Thomson, blasted in all the runs with a pair of homers yesterday as the New York Giants edged the Chicago Cubs 4 to 3 before a gallery of 7,693 in the only day game in the majors.

Thomson staked starter Jim Hearn to a three-run lead in the second by socking the first four-mayer behind singles by Willie Mays and Whitey Lockman in the second.

His twentieth round trip blow of the year, and third in two games, came in the sixth and proved the margin of victory.

Although he received credit for his tenth win against five losses,

Hearn had to have help from Sheldon Jones as the Cubs rallied in the sixth and threatened in the final two rounds.

Manager Leo Durocher finally sent in his ace hurler, Sal Maglie, to preserve the Giants' eighth win New York .030 001 000-4 9 2 Chicago .010 002 000-3 11 0

Loeb missed par only on the ninth and eighteenth holes over the Pittsburgh Field club course.

Second

Dick Carroll, of New York posted a 37-35-72 for second spot. He finished his round by sinking a 30-foot putt for a duce

Bracketed with 75s are William Stockdale, Pittsburgh; William Snyder, Albany, N. Y.; and Bob Wagner, San Francisco.

Baseball Warned By Congressman

By Arthur Edson

Washington (AP)—Baseball was told that if it expects to be exempt from anti-trust legislation, it has to change its thinking.

National league president, Ford Frick was up as a witness in a congressional hearing on the game when Rep. Celler (D-NY) suddenly snapped this fast one at him:

"You are so imbued with the spirit of maintaining the status quo that you are like the people who ride in railroad cars sitting backward. You don't see anything until you've passed it."

"If we exempt you from anti-trust legislation, you are going to have to reorient your thinking."

Celler's comment came after Frick had tried to explain why there has been no change in the way the major leagues are set up even though the population shift has been steadily westward.

Rep. Hilling (R-Calif.), who had asked Frick, baseball's great immortal, the same question Monday, asked Frick:

"How come the west coast isn't represented in the majors?"

Frick said he thinks the time will come—in the "foreseeable future"—when baseball will expand westward. And he read a National league report to show baseball has been thinking about the question.

Lecture

Celler sniffed and took off on his lecture. The New Yorker is chairman of the House Judiciary subcommittee which is studying whether baseball violates anti-trust laws, and whether it should be exempt from those laws.

He announced later in the day that Leslie O'Connor, counsel for the Pacific Coast league, will be called later to give his views on the west coast's efforts to turn into big leaguers.

The warning on players' rights came up when committee lawyers brought out that if a player now thinks he isn't getting a square deal, he can appeal to the courts.

Celler asked Frick:

"If Congress does exempt baseball from anti-trust laws, doesn't it take away from the player his only recourse, to appeal to the courts?"

Frick: "Yes."

Celler: "If we exempt baseball from anti-trust laws, wouldn't you be willing to accept some modus operandi (way of operating) by which a player will have some voice in choosing a commissioner?"

Westminster

Announces Slate

New Wilmington, Pa. (AP)—Westminster College's football team will play nine games during the 1951 season, four of them at home.

Schedule

September 22—Slippery Rock; September 29—Juniata at Huntington; October 6—Thiel; October 13—Bethany (homecoming); October 20—Grove City at Grove City; October 27—Geneva at Beaver Falls; November 3—Waynesburg at Waynesburg; November 10—Allegheny; November 17—Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh.

Yankees Deal With Brownies

New York, (AP)—The league-leading New York Yankees grabbed two hot shots from their Kansas City farm yesterday—Outfielder Bob Cerv and Left-handed Pitcher Bob Wiesler—to bolster their bid for another pennant.

To make room for the newcomers, Outfield Jackie Jensen was optioned to Kansas City and Outfielder Cliff Mays was sold to the St. Louis Browns for the $10,000 waiver price. The Yanks explained they wanted Jensen, a .298 hitter, to play every day.

The Browns then optioned Shortstop Tom Upton and Left-handed Pitcher Lou Skatler to Kansas City for the rest of the 1951 season and sold right-handed Pitcher Bob Hogue and Third Baseman Kermit Wahl outright to Kansas City.

Majors to Minors

Although eight men change uniforms in this three-club switch, only one man—Mays—goes to another big league club. The rest of the traffic is from New York and St. Louis to Kansas City, which is involved in a tight race in the American Association.

After purchasing Mays, the Browns later in the day announced the sale for the waiver price, of Outfielder Ray Coleman to Chicago.

Many think this is only the beginning of a major Brownie-Yankee swap next winter, perhaps involving Pitcher Ned Garver.

Cerv, a muscular 25-year-old right-handed slugger with a .349 average, hit 26 home runs and 20 triples for the Blues. He had driven in 101 runs although he missed a couple of weeks when hit on the head by a flying bat. He is a former University of Nebraska athlete.

Manager Casey Stengel has had his eye on Wiesler, a six-foot-two inch southpaw, for a long time. He has a 9-6 record at Kansas City, but leads the league with 142 strikeouts. In two and one-half years of pro ball he has struck out 659 men.

The Yanks now have an 11-man pitching staff with six left-handers. They are Ed Lopat, Bob Kuzava, "Stubby" Overmire, Joe Ostrowski, Art Schallock and Wiesler.

Sawyer Denies Reports Of Fist Fight

Cincinnati (AP)—Denying any and all reports of fights among his players, manager Eddie Sawyer last night "laid down the law" to the National league champion Philadelphia Phillies—now lagging 15½ games behind the league leading Brooklyn Dodgers.

In a fiery 20-minute clubhouse session preceding the Reds-Phillies game, Sawyer posted a new seven-point order covering on-the-field and off-duty hours of every member of the club.

He announced a new curfew hour that will be enforced at home and on the road.

He ordered every player to report to trainer Frank Wiechec within 30 minutes after a morning wake-up call—or else forfeit meal money for the day.

He banned all card playing.

He told every man on the squad to report at 11 a. m., before each day home game.

Same Hour

He set the same hour for appearance at the ball park while the club is on the road—except in the case of injured players—who are to report earlier.

He warned his men that all "bonehead" plays during games are now subject to fines.

And he declared that the club was now starting a "new season."

The decision on whether each player would remain with the club next year will depend on actions during this "new season," he said.

Commenting on a reported fist fight between Gran Hamner and Del Ennis, and all the rumors of fights among the team—fistic and verbal—Sawyer declared:

"There is not an iota of truth in any such report."

Woman Waives Hearing On Motor Charge

Bertha E. Gorman, 296 Washington St., East Stroudsburg, yesterday waived a hearing before Justice of the Peace Marshall Neyhart, East Stroudsburg, on a charge of operating a motor vehicle after operating privileges had been revoked.

Mrs. Gorman was held in $300 bail for the next term of court. Attorney Elmer D. Christine, East Stroudsburg, represented the defendant in the proceedings.

Chief of Police Arthur Swink said he and Officer Edward Harloe arrested the woman for violation of the motor vehicle code of Pennsylvania.

The officer said Mrs. Gorman had been sentenced on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor some months ago and, as a consequence, her Pennsylvania operating privileges had been revoked.

Swink said that on July 21, Officer Harloe saw Mrs. Gorman operating a car, accosted her and she showed him a Connecticut operator's license. Swink said the woman was advised her privileges had been revoked in this state.

The officer said police had not seen Mrs. Gorman for several days. Yesterday, however, they made the arrest and instituted the prosecution which will now come before the Monroe county court, officers advised.

Army Announces Policy Changes

M/Sgt. James J. Marion, commander of the local U. S. Army and Air Force recruiting station, announced yesterday that there have been two new changes in enlistment policies which will affect young men and women of this area.

Qualified women between the ages of 18 and 34 inclusive, may now enlist in the Women's Army Corps for a two-year period. Formerly, the minimum enlistment term in the WACS was three years. Women enlisting in the Air Force must still enlist for a four year term.

Young men who can qualify, and are between the ages of 18½ and 25 inclusive, may enlist for 24 months in the Army. The 21-month enlistment period for men of draft age has been discontinued.

Further information may be secured at the local recruiting station in the Stroudsburg Post Office or by calling Stroudsburg 3586.

Taft Bill Validates Elections

Washington (AP) — Senator Taft (R-Ohio) announced yesterday he has drafted a bill to validate collective bargaining elections which might be upset by the Supreme court's recent Communist oath decision.

His bill also would cancel the necessity for further elections on the union shop question, although it would permit 30 per cent of union members to force a vote on the question of cancelling a union shop agreement.

Taft noted in a statement that the high court held the National Labor Relations board "was wrong when it decided it was unnecessary for the officers of the American Federation of Labor (AFL) and the Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO) to sign the anti-Communist oath."

"This decision invalidates many elections and certifications made under the NLRB decision, and necessitates the holding of thousands of new elections," Taft said.

"Since all the officers of the AFL and CIO have now signed the oath, it seems wholly unnecessary to hold these elections, and the proposed bill will validate the previous elections and other actions taken by the board."

Abraham Lincoln's estate was valued at $110,295.

Gold Street House Sold To Couple

The residential property at 51 Gold St., East Stroudsburg, has changed hands, according to a deed placed on file here yesterday at the Monroe county court house office of Register and Recorder Floyd Butz.

William N. and Wealthy M. Hatfield, of the Gold St. address, transferred title to the property on Gold St. near Grove St. to Nathan Abeloff, of 180 Grand St., in the east borough.

Abeloff, in turn, conveyed the title to Elwood L. and Laura P. Shook, of 1027-A N. Ninth St., Stroudsburg.

In another transaction yesterday, R. C. and Jennie Cramer, of Stroud township, conveyed title to a piece of land on King St. in the township to Ashton L. and Mary F. Burrows, of East Stroudsburg.

Deed for the sale of the S. Sixth St. property formerly occupied by an auto parts concern to the Stroudsburg camp of the Patriotic Order of Sons of America was also placed on file yesterday.

Title was granted the POS of A by Paul L. and Hazel M. Edinger, Atty. George T. Robinson and Virginia T. Robinson, all of Stroudsburg.

Koppers Develops New Road Material

Pittsburgh (AP) — Koppers Company, Inc., disclosed yesterday it will produce in limited quantities this fall a new road material called komac.

The material is a blending of bituminous materials with aggregate through a special homogenizing process.

Koppers says komac can be applied in any kind of weather with standard road-repair equipment and laid without heating.

Komac will be produced at Koppers plants in Chicago, Ill., and Utica, N. Y., with additional facilities likely by the fall of 1952-53.

Driver Singed When Flames Envelop Cab

Brodheadsville—The West End Fire Co. extinguished a fire in an auto-carrier cab northbound on Route 115 near here late Wednesday.

Claude Lore, of Dallas RD 1 driver of the double unit transport, was singed about the face and hair as flames shot up over his back as he sat behind the wheel.

He was able to steer the burning vehicle to the edge of the highway, where he stopped it and jumped out. Passing motorists gave the alarm and the West End company responded.

The cab was damaged extensively, but the carrier, empty at the time, was not burned.

Lukas To Star In Radio Show

Mr. Lukas' first show in the new series will be heard on station WVPO, Stroudsburg, at 5:30 p. m. Sunday.
